Mission: Possible
meet the members:

Where did we go?

Villa Allende, Cordoba, Argentina
What did we do?

Flood Relief
We also did some sight-seeing in Cordoba, Argentina.
& toured the law school in Cordoba, Argentina

(which is free to attend!)
We met with a practicing attorney and discussed how you apply to law school, what the structure of classes looks like, how to take law school exams, and how to find a job after.

In Argentina, you attend law school directly after high school. It is a 6 year program, however students take up to 10 years. Exams are often oral and exam topics can be chosen via lottery. And once you graduate, you decide whether to work for the state or be a “street lawyer.”
We also visited the Palicio de Justicia
We met the Mayor of Ville Allende
We learned tango, ate a lot of gelato, and made some new friends.
We also tried some new foods . . .
“You have two missions in this world. One is to be happy and the other is to help people.” - Juan